CLARA SMITH HAMON FREED BY JURY; SUIT FOR MILLIONS WILL FOLLOW

By Clara Smith Hamon

Written for the United Press; copyright 1921 by United Press Ardmore, Okla., March 18.—I start anew in life with the scarlet letter of shame branded on my breast, but I start out with the determination to show the world that an erring woman can come back.

It has been said that the world never forgives a woman who makes one mistake in life. If I believed that, the freedom given me by the jury yesterday would not be sweet to me. It would be as bitter as hemlock. I know the world will sympathize with me because it thinks I am a regenerated woman.
I am going through life with my head up, knowing that I can look every man and woman in the eye unafraid. I want to thank the people for being sympathetic with me. I received messages of sympathy from all over the country during this trying ordeal.

What am I going to do now that I am free? I wish I knew, but before I decide I want my mind to become clearer.
The sordid happenings of the last week are still whirling before me.

By Carl Victor Little

Ardmore, Okla., March 18.—A suit for part of the Hamon millions will be the immediate outgrowth of acquitting
Clara Smith Hamon of the murder charge, it was announced today. Attorneys said, however, that they were not ready to reveal the exact nature of the suit nor the amount to be demanded by the girl who was freed last night from the charge of murdering Jake L. Hamon, millionaire oil man with whom she lived. Clara took a new lease of life today. She has the choice of a number of occupations offered her. She could go into the movies, become a magazine writer or take up evangelistic work.

Ardmore, Okla., March 18.—Clara
Smith Hamon today was acquitted
of a charge of having murdered Jake L. Hamon, Republican national committeeman from Oklahoma,
and millionaire railroad and oil
promoter.

The jury was given the case at 4:30 p. m. and returned to the court room forty minutes later.

B. F. C. Laughride, 73 years old foreman, said only one ballot was taken, a secret one, confirmed by a rising vote.

Clara Hamon obtained the information fully seven minutes before the verdict was rendered in open court and sat surrounded by members of her family, half smiling, half afraid to believe the words of assurance that were bent toward her.

When Judge Thomas W. Champian mounted the bench and received an affirmative response to his question: "Gentlemen have you reached a verdict?" her eyes followed the motions of the bailiff as he received the verdict from Mr.
Laughride and handed it to the clerk to read.

Clara Hamon gasped audibly at the tense silence of the court room dropped forward in her seat, only to be seized from behind by her young brother, "Jimmie," squeezed violently and kissed. Tears came to her eyes and the other members of the family cried with her as she crossed to the standing jurors and haughtily thanked them.

"I am the happiest woman in the world," she said.

CLEARFIELD HIGH ELIMINATED THROUGH DEFEAT BY OIL CITY LAST EVENING

Clearfield High School's champion basketball team was eliminated from the Western Pennsylvania championship elimination contest at Grove City when it was taken into camp by the fast Oil City High team by a 34-20 score.

Clearfield drew Oil City in the lottery for game and opponent, while Kane was paired up with the Farrell team.
Kane beat Farrell 42-15 and in consequence thereof will meet Oil City in the play-off tonight.

The line-up and score follows:

Clearfield—20	Oil City—34
Ammerman F.	Foley
Martin F.	Peterson
Neff C.	Hall
Norris G.	Chacon
Bowes G.	For

Substitution, Foley for Peterson. Field goals, Ammer-man, 2; Martin, 2; Foley, Peterson; Hall, 9; Chacona, 2.
Foul goals, Neff, 12 out of 17; Hall, 7 out of 18; Chacona, 1 out of 2.

PROPOSED "DRY" LAW FOR STATE IS UNSATISFACTORY; NEW ONE PREPARED

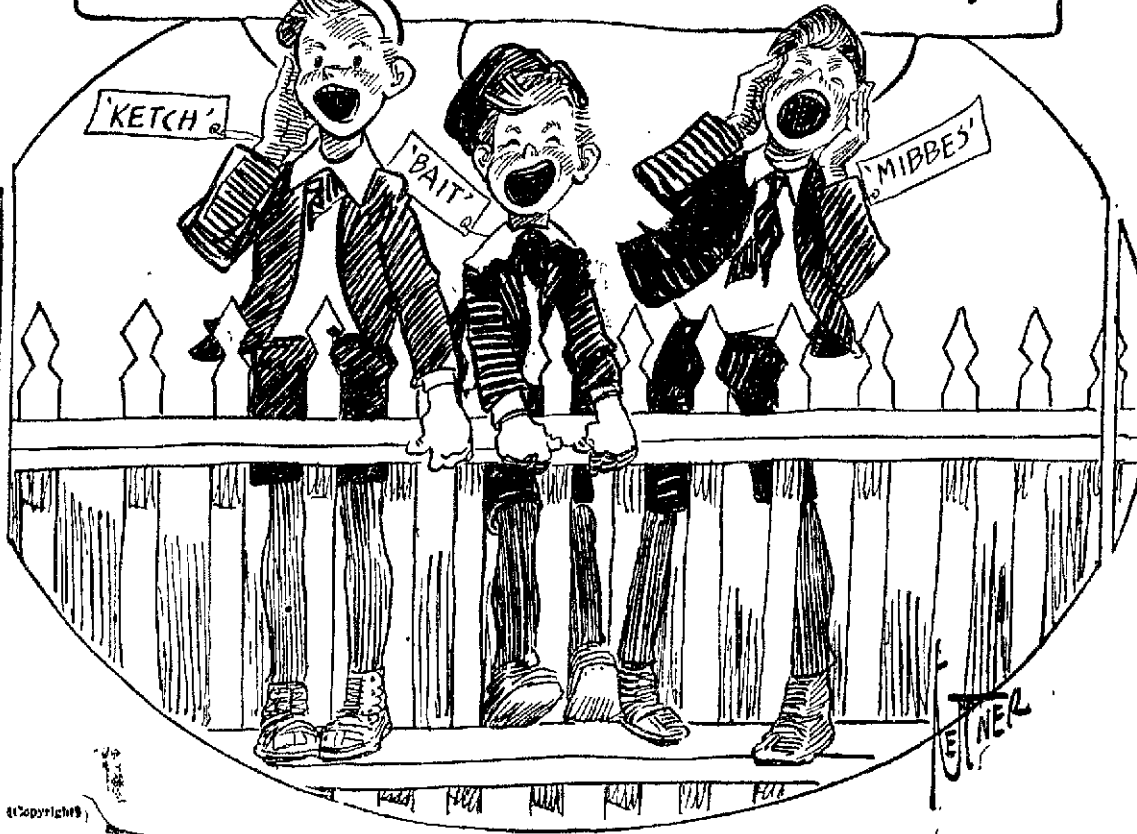

Harrisburg, March 18.—Defeat seems inevitable for the Martin prohibition enforcement bill which will be voted on Tuesday morning. Despite the efforts to bring the measure in line with the Volstead act the chances of passage are regarded by members who have objected to the bill as being negligible. Governor Sprout was among the first to criticize the bill in its present form. He held a conference recently in which he pointed out emphatically that the administration will not stand sponsor for the bill. It is understood that the governor is having Attorney General Alter prepare a bill that will meet with approval.

SKILLMAN "ROT" TO BE EXPOSED TO AIR

White Plains, N. Y., March 18.—Efforts to settle the Stillman divorce case out of court were dropped today when the judge ordered the argument to proceed on next Wednesday. This was ordered at the request of Mrs. Stillman's attorneys who asked that James A. Stillman be compelled to show why he should not pay Mrs. Stillman $10,000 a month alimony and $25,000 lawyer fees.

B. R. & P. RAILWAY WILL CUT WAGES

The B. R. & P. railroad, in common with railroad systems all over the country, is serving notice to its employees that a wage reduction is contemplated. Notices have been served to the employees to this effect, and conferences in regard to the matter are being held and others will take place shortly.

The maintenance of way men of the B. R. & P. has already been notified of their reduction and representatives held a conference with General Manager Brennan at Rochester. The reduction offered by the road averaged about 22 percent, making the hourly rate about 33 to 40 cents. The delegation representing this department, after deliberation reported that the reduction would not be accepted. This will result in the negotiations being placed before the Railway Labor Board, with no decrease being effected pending decision.

The other departments of the road received their notice of the proposed reduction on Tuesday and it is expected that conferences will be arranged in the near future.
The proposed reduction is not announced in the circular.

The notice which is signed by T.
F. Brennan, vice President, ends as follows:

Since the effective date of the wages now paid employees and subordinate officials in the above enumerated classes there has been a pronounced change in the general conditions which require a reduction in the existing rates of pay to correspond with the business conditions
throughout the country.

This is to notify the above mentioned employees and subordinate officials that effective April 16, 1921
the rates of pay will be revised. In the meantime, we desire to have a conference with the duly accredited representatives of the employees for the purpose of arriving at an agreement on the proposed changes.

You will be advised later as to the date and place selected for the conference to which you are invited to send proper representatives.

PUNXSUTAWNEY MEN ARE ON REORGANIZED ELCO TEAM

Ridgway, March 18.—Manager
Herb Moran of the Elco has ball team, was in town today and said he had signed all his players for the 1921 ball team, and assures the Elk county fans that he has a team that is the best that ever played in Elk county. Manager Moran has already had many requests for games.
Among the teams desiring dates are Brookville, Clearfield and Allegheny Steel.

The following is the lineup of the Elcos: Pitchers, Bill Ritter, Mule
Watson, Lutz and Costello; catchers, Crossin and A. Watson; infield, Phalen, Getz, Spires and Jim Ritter; outfield, Moran, Messenger, Robinson and Chase.

Dr. Ward O. Wilson and wife, C.
T. Kurtz and wife and Dean H.
Bloom and wife were Clearfield Rotarians who attended the national session at Fairmount, W. Va., this week. They returned home yesterday.

CLASH BETWEEN RUSSIA AND JAPAN NOW SCHEDULED

War Said to be Brewing in Far East of Grave Import to United States

JAPS AND RUSSIA AT ODDS

Harbin, Manchuria, March 17.—
War is brewing in the Far East—
and it may not be without grave import in the United States.

Of course wars of a certain kind are novel to us here, but the impending conflict promises to go far beyond the less serious affairs the East has come to call wars and which have kept Siberia, Manchuria and China in a constant turmoil for years.

Japan and Red Russia are at each other's throat. The final clash may come at any moment. Again, it may be avoided—sincere patriots in each country are doing their utmost to prevent another Russo-Japanese war. But the outlook is not bright.

The first signs of Spring will undoubtedly see a development, one way or the other, in the problem.

General Takayanagi, Japanese
chief of staff in Siberia, has admitted the gravity of the situation. He said in an interview that he had heard of plans in soviet Russia for an attack on the Japanese, but that he did not wish to consider them as authorized. But he added: "Japan is ready."

It is known that the China government has received word from Moscow to take a more aggressive
stand against Japan and China.
Three reasons for this order are apparent.

1.—Closing of the Manchurian border has been a severe blow to the soviet.

2.—Condition in Red Russia
make the reopening of trade relations with other eastern nations of vital importance.

3.—Leaders of the soviet fear the dissolution of the Red army, unless it can be employed in another war.

There are reports, how true they are can only be speculated on, that a union is being formed between Ataman Semonoff, Chang Tso-lin, who is probably China's strongest militarist, and the Japanese high command at Mukden. If these stories are correct a concerted drive against the Reds in Siberia may begin early this Spring. Reports have it that Chang Tso-lin has agreed to restore to the Semonoff and Kappal armies the arms and ammunition which was taken from them when they were driven across the Manchurian border by the then victorious Reds.

In the meantime, comparative peace reigns in China. The southern faction is holding a session of parliament at Canton while the Chihntes, who deposed the Anfu military party at Peking, continue their reign in the north. Both have inactive armies in the field. The only battles being fought are skirmishes between roving guerilla bands.

SOME ALL-LEAGUE CHAMPION TEAMS

The DuoBis Express of Wednesday prints the following:

Joseph McCracken, the clever Kit tanning basketball player and official referee in the High School league, has announced his selection of all-league players for first and second teams as follows:

FIRST TEAMS

Ammerman	F	Clearfield
Moore <th>F</th> <th>Brookville</th>	F	Brookville
Thoreson <th>C</th> <th>Punxsutawney</th>	C	Punxsutawney
Briggs <th>G</th> <th>Brookville</th>	G	Brookville
Williams <th>G</th> <th>Punxsutawney</th>	G	Punxsutawney
Substitutes—Neff, <td></td> <td>of Clearfield,</td>		of Clearfield,
and Gailbraith, <td></td> <td>of Brookville.</td>		of Brookville.

SECOND TEAM

White	F	Punxsutawney
Carlos <th>F</th> <th>N. Bethlehem</th>	F	N. Bethlehem
Daugherty <th>C</th> <th>N. Bethlehem</th>	C	N. Bethlehem
Denson <th>G</th> <th>DuBois</th>	G	DuBois
Norris <th>G</th> <th>Clearfield</th>	G	Clearfield

The Punxsutawney Spirit has also selected a team identical with that selected by Joe McCracken excepting that Norris of Clearfield is placed at guard instead of Briggs of Brookville.

The season is open and critics and near critics are all expected to take a hand at picking their all-league teams, and there will likely be as many different line-ups as there are selections. The Daily Express will pick a team soon after the last game of the league is played at Brookville on Friday night, when Punxsutawney will visit that town to settle the right to second place.

The above "dope" is certainly amusing. Joe McCracken saw Clearfield play one game.

The amusing feature of both the above all-league teams is the elimination of Captain Neff, Clearfield's premier centre, and without a doubt the best player in the entire league bar none. The only way to determine the ability of any individual player is to get the official scores for the different games and take note of the actual points scored;
with the exception of the guards
that is the only way to determine a player's ability, not how he acts in any particular game. The only player at all approaching Neff is Thoreson, of Punxsutawney.

The real all-league team, speaking by the book, and it is results
that count, is herewith noted:

Ammerman	F	Clearfield
Moore <th>F</th> <th>Brookville</th>	F	Brookville
Neff <th>C</th> <th>Clearfield</th>	C	Clearfield
Norris <th>G</th> <th>Clearfield</th>	G	Clearfield
Bowes <th>G</th> <th>Clearfield</th>	G	Clearfield

Williams of Punxsutawney is "some guard" alright and it is a close race between him and Bowes for a place on the first team, but Norris easily tops the pile, as the records again clearly show.

BRYAN ISSUES STATEMENT ON EVE OF SIXTY-FIRST BIRTHDAY

Editor's Note. William J. Bryan will be 61 years of age tomorrow. At the request of the United Press he has written the following birthday statement:

By William Jennings Bryan, written for the United Press. Copyright, 1921, by the United Press.

Miami, Fla., March 18.—The latter days of life, like the Autumn months, have joys of their own that make them welcome in spite of the silent warning that they bring. They are the harvest days and are gladdened by the result of their labors. No one has been more fortunate than I in family and in friends and congenial co-workers, and in the satisfaction that comes with the securing of reform.

I have lived my life in a wonderful period. I have seen four great constitutional amendments adopted.

Popular election of United States senators brought this government nearer to the people.

The income tax equalizes the burden of the government.

Prohibition gives us the greatest moral victory.
Suffrage gives the impetus to aid in a righteous cause.

I have seen the nation demonstrate its fighting strength and then prove its disinterestedness.

I have seen partisanship wane and political independence grow.

Forty years in politics have made me an optimist.
Democracy which is stronger than any party, will solve all problems, and I hope and expect to see my party play an important part.

The country will go forward whether the Democrats lead or lag behind. I am sure that our government will lead the movement for disarmament and world peace.

ONE HUN WANTS TO TELL THE TRUTH

Berlin, March 18.—Tossing the former Kaiser over board as the Jonah was proposed in the Reichstag today by Deputy Beirss. He recommended that Germany recognize "the Kaiser's war guilt in the hope that the world will give us better terms." The proposal met with loud denunciation by the Pan-Germans who created a great disturbance in the Reichstag chamber.

EVEN BLAINE CITY IS GOING TO HAVE BANG-UP BASEBALL

Editor Progress:

I have read with interest your recent articles from nearby places concerning their baseball plans for the coming season, and wish to add our story to the list.

Blaine City is a mining town located between Coalport and Ironva-boroughs, has a population of about 1000, a flag stop on the P. R. R. Bell wood division; has a cracker-jack orchestra band who own a large public pavilion, a basket and ball team playing the fastest teams in Central Pennsylvania, having defeated Tyrone, Houtzdale, Barnesboro, Altoona Y. M. C. A., champions last year of Blair county, Beversdale, Bolivar, Altoona, Overland club and many others.

Our baseball team, of which we wish to speak, was organized in 1911
and has been playing a fast brand of amateur baseball ever since, last season was the most successful of all, our team played 43 games winning 34, tying 2 and lost 7, for an average of 82.9. Several of these games were hard fought battles, one with Starford, Indiana county, going 12 innings to a 1-1 tie.

Another notable battle was a 12 inning game with Patton which we won 3-2 before several thousand spectators from several counties.

Hastings went down to defeat at Blaine City 1-0, in a wonderful exhibition of pitching and fielding on both sides, many plays of the sensational order keeping the fans keyed up to "E". At Hastings we trimmed the locals to the tune of 10-0, allowing them 4 scattered hits, while our boys gathered 14 hits for a total of 23 bases.

At Houtzdale the locals were full of fun and poked some 'small town' gags at our boys on our ability to hold them but when Lefty Tyler our 19 year old sensational southpaw tossed his curves over the Houtzdale rubber, there wasn't much smoke created by the "Alley-poppers" as all the famous hitters laid their willows and rubbed their eyes.
This game ended 10-2 in favor of Blaine City and there and then we

WHOLESALE LIQUOR HOUSES MUST SHUT UP ON MAY 15

(By The Associated Press)

Washington, March 18.—The wholesale liquor establishments of the country will be put to death
May 15 under sentence pronounced today by Prohibition Commissioner Kramer.

Although an opinion rendered by Attorney General Palmer said the wholesaler had no legal right to continue in business, internal revenue and prohibition officials decided to grant some time in which he could unload stocks without too heavy voluntary loss. But Mr.
Kramer's announcement today made it clear there would be no further extension of time and that execution of the sentence would be carried out.

Mr. Kramer, however, opened the way for the retail druggists to obtain supplies for prescriptions, thereby removing the ban on withdrawals from bonded warehouses.
For several months the doors have been closed. The order today makes it possible for the retail druggist to transact business direct with the bonded warehouses. Wholesale druggists will be taken care of later, Mr. Kramer indicated.

Dealings between the retail druggists and other purchasers and the bonded warehouses will be limited by regulations which officials declare would be drastic enough to satisfy the most ardent dry advocates. They must be based, however, it was added, on Mr. Pul-mer's opinion. It is planned to put them in effect about the time the wholesale houses go out of existence. So far as the wholesaler is concerned, Mr. Kramer said, his one task now is to get rid of the stocks.

A delightful birthday surprise party was held at the home of Mrs.
Lucas at her home on Market street last evening. Covers were laid for twenty, the color scheme being shamrock green suggesting St. Patrick's day.

An enjoyable time was had by all and at the conclusion of the evening the guests departed wishing Miss Lucas many happy returns.

After Thorough Trial a Detroit, Mich., Man Endorses Pe-ru-na

The following letter written from Detroit, Michigan is no snap judgment expressed on the merits of Pe-ru-na, the well-known cathartic, but rather a mature, sober opinion formed after a full year's trial.

This is the way Mr. Michael Bako of 908 East Palmer Avenue, in the Michigan Metropolitan, writes: "After using PE-RU-NA for about one year I will say I have found it a very good medicine for catarrh. It has helped me a great deal and I am very well satisfied. I have gained weight, eat and sleep well, my bowels are regular and better color in my face."

"PE-RU-NA has done wonders and to me is worth its weight in gold. I shall continue to use PE-RU-NA as long as I live and recommend to my friends who are troubled with catarrh."

Nothing can be more convincing than an endorsement of this nature from an actual user. There are many people in every community suffering from catarrh, but few know of Pe-ru-na. It is the soundly, for coughs, colds, catarrh, stomach and bowel disorders and all catarrhal conditions. Put up in both tablet and liquid form. Sold everywhere.

An Extravagant Dresser.

The late czar of Russia had the reputation of being the most extravagant of European monarchs as regards dress. The bill of his civil tailor is said to have bordered on $10,000 a year, and that of the military tailor, $15,000.

Arabs Long on Handshaking.

When friendly Arabs meet their salutation is almost grotesque, for they shake hands seven or eight times, and sometimes repeatedly kiss each other.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By "Skinney"

A London physician claims to have made a discovery that will revolutionize the practice of medicine. The physician is Dr. Clement Jeffrey, M. A. It consists of detecting illness by the appearance of the eyes and is called "Iridagnosis." Under the system instead of the patient detailing his symptoms in order that the doctor can tell the patient his complaint and prescribe, under the diagnosis method, the practitioner has only to read the eyes of the patient in order to discover both the symptoms and the disease.

"It is the most accurate and most wonderful diagnostic method yet discovered," explained Dr. Jeffrey to Universal Service. "It has been ignored by the leaders of orthodox medicine, although it is being practiced by several physicians including Dr. Lahn of Chicago, and another American, Dr. Lindlahr.

"It was discovered by a Hungarian, Dr. Perzely. When he was a boy he caught an owl in his garden. The owl's leg was broken in its attempt to escape and the boy, who was looking straight in its eyes at the moment, noticed a black spot appear. As the leg healed a white ring formed around the spot.

"The doctor some years later noticed a black spot in a similar position in the eye of a man who had also broken his leg, and further investigation over a long period of years proved that all the ill, of, and accidents to, the body are reflected in the eyes. From his investigation he worked out the chart of the iris.

Don't now what Gray and Cunningham will say about this but we publish it anyhow.

"A wife's place at night is in her home, by her husband," says a New York magistrate, in discharging from custody a husband who went to the home of his mother-in-law, where his wife had fled, and taking the woman by the back of the neck marched her home to her wifely duties.

Dr. William A. McKeever, of Kansas University, in a recent lecture in Oklahoma said:

"All a young man needs these days to start a matrimonial career is one good American dollar, willing hands and an alert brain."

That might work out in Oklahoma, but it won't go here in Pennsylvania where it would take the dollar to get a marriage license to say nothing at all about the preacher's wife's new hat.

Dr. Aristide Menn, dean of women at New York University, can't agree with the western professor. She says: "Don't do it."

"I would hate to marry a man on a dollar," and work up in the world with him," she continued.

"When bills come in at the door, love flies out of the window," paraphrased Dr. Menn.

"If a couple started out with a dollar and it were put into the hands of the wife to spend for necessities the husband would surely ask her, 'What did you buy with it?'"

"Or 'Why did you spend so much?'"

Some time ago the "Collyum" made mention of the fact that friend Woodrow left a considerable quantity of "wet goods" in the White House cellar. Tuesday last a news dispatch from Washington contained the intelligence that President Harding invited Private Secretary "Fristian to go down into the cellar and 'look around' with him. The Volstead act specifies a fine of $1,000 and costs for such invitations nowadays, but don't suppose Prohibition Enforcement Officer Kramer will go quite that far in this case.

Representative Chaplin, of California county, certainly deserves a Carnegie medal, because he is a real hero. Down at Harrisburg on Wednesday Chaplin introduced a bill which he explained as a measure to guarantee pure liquor for medicinal purposes and to prevent profiteering by persons legally authorized to sell it. Whiskey is to be 100 per cent proof and double stamped and is not to sell at more than $2.50 per pint. Rectified spirits are not to be offered for sale for medicinal purposes. Brandy, wines and gin are to be made only from pure products. Penalty for violation of the act is fixed at a fine not less than $500 nor more than $1,000 and imprisonment of a year or both.

Flower Trimmed Hats for Easter

Nothing quite completes the Easter costume as does the flower-trimmed hat. This year the flowers are in many cases handmade of Crepe de chine or georgette, others are embroidered or appliqued, but the same vivid multi-colored effect is gained. Like promises of the vernal days are these bright models. They add a cheery note to the suit and are particularly charming with the silk frock.

New Neckwear

An old suit or a new suit is much the smarter with the addition of fresh neckwear. Specially priced for Spring sales.

New Hosiery

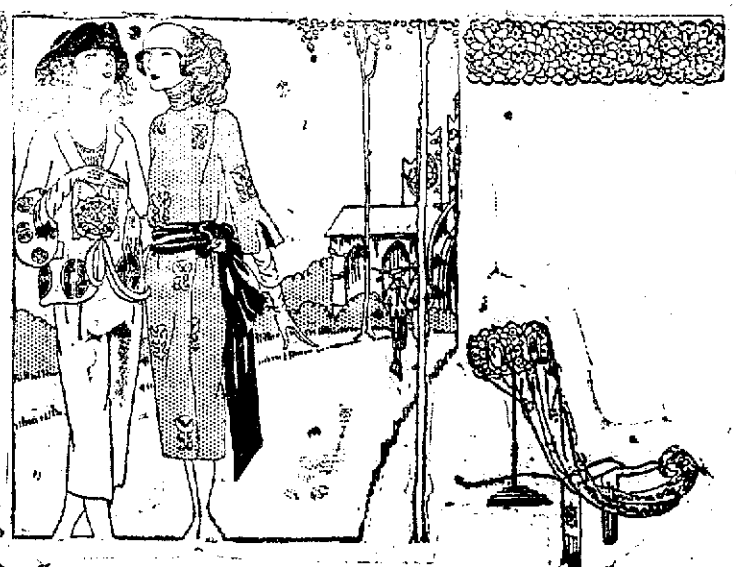

Slippers nowadays permit much display of hosiery. Fine silk hose, plain or fancy, is a detail not to be overlooked in the Easter outfit.

New Blouses

A crepe de chine blouse, boyishly simple, or an elaborate overblouse may grace the Easter suit. Both styles are here, new and charming. From

$3.75 to $14.50

Radiant Easter Modes

Alive With the Freshness of Spring

AN early Easter is a gentle reminder that no longer does Spring linger just around the corner but is a reality and here. You will want a costume and all the interesting details that reflect the freshness of Spring. Lowered prices make it unnecessary to postpone selections until after Easter. Early inspection of our complete stocks of Spring apparel is requested.

Spring Suits

Variety abounds in the new suits and one may select models for the Easter promise in semi-tailored, three-piece box jacket, cape coat or coolie jacket styles. Navy, covert, tan and gray predominate.

From $20 to $70

Spring Frocks

Easter day takes on a new aspect if you join the parade clad in one of these smart frocks. When it comes to selecting between the fascinating silk models and the equally smart cloth ones, the wisest solution is to take one of each.

From $16 to $45

Spring Wraps

The wrap's the thing this Easter. You'll want one to wear over the new frocks. They are graceful affairs be-caped and be-draped and be-decked with embroidery. Then, too, there are smart coats with a more utilitarian air for general purposes.

From $46 to $75

Silk Lingerie

New clothes just naturally demand new underthings and here are boxes of the softest, laciest bits of lingerie one could desire. Valenciennes and Irish laces add touches to distinction and beauty to the garments in this showing, all of which are Specially Priced.

New Corsets

Just a suggestion. Before buying the new Easter outfit step into the corset section and be fitted to new corsets. You will find it will in every way add to your enjoyment of the new costume. From

$4.50 to $10

Freckle-Face

Now is The Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

You know how easy it is to remove those ugly spots so that no one will call you freckle-face. Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength, from your druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of freckles and get a beautiful complexion. The sun and wind of March have a strong tendency to bring out freckles, and as a result more Othine is sold in this month. Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles.

Goodness Always Influential. No man or woman can really be strong, gentle, pure and good without the world being better for it, without somebody being helped and comforted by the very existence of that goodness.—Phillips Brooks.

"It is a maxim universally agreed upon in agriculture that nothing must be done too late; and again, that everything must be done at its proper season; while there is a third precept which reminds us that opportunities lost can never be regained."—Pitay the Elder.

HEROISM OF EVERYDAY LIFE

The recent accident in the Susquehanna river at Croft mine, just above Surveyor, demonstrates the fact that heroism in American every day life is a matter of common occurrence. At the time in question, mention of which was made in last night's Progress, six young men named Thomas, Melvin and Robert Graham, Lawrence and Cecil Cuppler and Clyde Wallace, who live in Bradford township, were crossing the river in a box ferry to their work at Croft mine of the Harbison-Walker Refractories Company. The river, which was at flood, is very wide and deep at this point, and as the ferry box neared the middle of the river the wire on which it traveled broke and all six men were thrown out into the water.

Two of the Graham boys were unable to swim. Cecil Cuppler went under the box when it struck the water and experienced considerable difficulty in getting out, but being a good swimmer he managed finally, by keeping his head, to dive down and clear the box and then strike out for shore. He had his pipe in his mouth when dumped into the river and never dropped it. He came up from under the box with the "old dudheen" in his mouth and had it firmly grasped in his teeth when he managed to reach the shore and safety.

The third Graham and Clyde Wallace put out for shore when dumped into the water and succeeded in making the shore without incident.

Lawrence Cuppler, an expert swimmer, knew the two Graham boys could not swim a stroke, and instead of looking after his own safety, his first thought was of his friends. Swimming to where the one boy was frantically struggling in the swift waters Cuppler counseled him to keep cool and he would take him ashore in safety. He instructed the almost frantic young man how to take hold of him and not impede his efforts in the water and with the first lad safely in tow Cuppler and his burden struck manfully out for the second Graham.

By this time the young man had floated some distance with the flood, but notwithstanding the handicap of the man on his back Cuppler, in a few powerful strokes, reached the other nearly drowned man and after grasping him securely also loaded him on his back, after carefully telling him how and where to take hold of him. Then with his double burden Cuppler struck out for shore and after considerable of a struggle managed to reach safety amid the cheers of the crowd of men, women and children attracted to the river bank by the accident.

Young Cuppler never was the least bit excited while in the fast rushing waters, nor did he get the least bit chesty over his heroic action in disregarding his own safety and turning his efforts toward saving the lives of his companions. He said he knew the boys could not swim and also knew that he could take them out alright if they didn't get scared and obeyed orders; that the boys did as he told them and kept their heads after he got to them and everybody came out alive and smiling, although the water was pretty darn chilly.

The Carnegie Hero Fund was established to properly reward such heroes as Lawrence Cuppler and The Progress proposes to see that they have the opportunity to do so by acquainting them with the facts in this case.

The heroic action of Mrs. Frank Loy, of Houtzdale, in rescuing the Frelin child from Beaver run will also be brought to the attention of the Carnegie commission.

INTESTATE LAWS

Unusual legal expressions are often passed over as of no interest to the layman. "Intestate," however, is a term that may have a bearing on the welfare of every one.

An "intestate" is one who fails to provide for the disposition of property and leaves no will. Unwilled property is disposed of according to the Intestate Laws.

This company assists individuals to correctly word a will; also acts as sole or co-executor under a will.

FINANCIAL AND BUSINESS CONDITIONS IN THE UNITED STATES
From Guarantee Trust Company Bulletin

The first official acts of the new administration which assumed office on March 4, indicate that immediate attention will be given to the economic problems which are contributing their part to the condition of uncertainty in which business finds itself. A special session of Congress will be called either for Monday April 11, and at a conference with the legislative leaders President Harding has discussed revision of the revenue laws and the Underwood-Simmons Tariff Act as subjects to be dealt with at the special session. Many Republican leaders have indicated their satisfaction with the veto of the Fordney Tariff Bill by President Wilson and the failure of the House to override it. They represent that very large portion of the country which believes that the legislation of greatest importance just now is the revision of the revenue law, and particularly the repeal of excess profits taxes. The designation of General Leonard Wood to make a special survey of the Philippine Islands is regarded also as significant because of the growing commercial importance of that archipelago. Another interesting report from Washington is that Mr. Hoover, the new Secretary of Commerce, is about to make a statement of his proposals regarding the reorganization of his Department. This when the country is, as it were, upon the verge of a great development of our foreign trade, will touch intimately a great variety of interests. Finally, there is in the President's request to W. P. G. Harding that he continue as Governor of the Federal Reserve Board assurance that the Chief Executive will recommend no legislation likely to upset the now well established foundational banking system of the country.

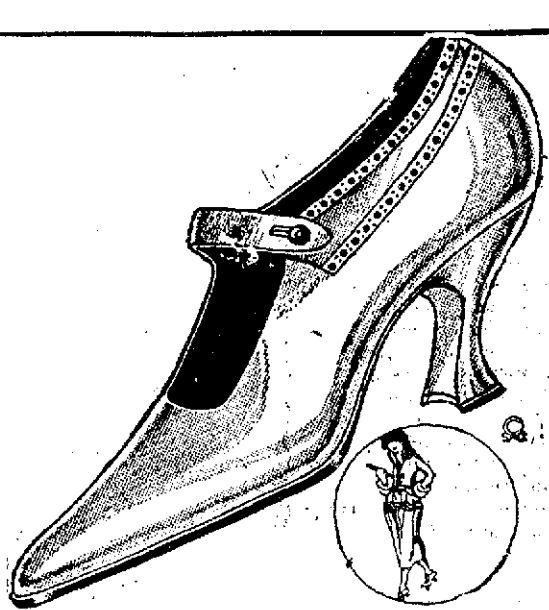

FARM LOAN BONDS
The United States Supreme Court has upheld the constitutionality of the tax exemption privilege attaching to the bonds issued under authority of the Farm Loan Board by the Federal land and joint stock land banks. The decision is expected to rejuvenate the system under which the Federal land banks easily disposed of their bonds prior to the attack upon the tax exemption feature. Of these bonds the amount sold to the public was $149,173,000 and the United States Treasury purchases amount to $13,035,000, a total of $532,208,000. In addition to its investment in bonds the Treasury owns $6,832,000 of the capital stock of the Federal land banks, subscription to which followed the public's failure to invest. There appears to be now a possibility that a large part of the Government's interest will be liquidated, thus throwing the financing of the system back upon the public where it was originally intended that it should rest. The total of loans to farmers now outstanding is more than $337,000,000.

RAILROAD EARNINGS
Chairman Edgar E. Clark of the Interstate Commerce Commission states very plainly in a recent letter to Senator Harris of Georgia that nothing in the railroad situation at the present time justifies a reduction in freight rates such as has been suggested in various sections of the country as a means of lowering production costs. "The situation is not so good now as it was in December," wrote Chairman Clark. "The average operating ratio of the railroads of the United States is something over 90. That means that for every dollar the railroads earn they pay out in operating expenses more than 90 cents. Due to the narrow margin between revenue and operating expenses and fixed charges, a good many are not even earning their operating expenses. Under these circumstances it is difficult to find an argument in favor of reducing the rates unless for instances in which it can be shown that the rates are stifling the traffic and that lower rates, which would still be compensatory, would effect a movement from which there would be some return."

We Wash Them All

Is washday wearisome? Laundresses hard to get? You'll be interested, then, in this modernized service of ours.

If you wish finished family service, we'll wash everything sweetly clean in fleecy suds and pure, soft water; iron daintily; call promptly, and deliver punctually.

If you prefer to iron the lighter pieces yourself, we'll do the washing, and beautifully iron the heavier flat-work; but leave the frilly things for you.

If you have curtains that need laundering, send them. We'll refresh and revive them; dry them handsomely, and return them exactly their original shape and size, without so much as a pinhole to mar them.

Or perhaps it may be collars, blankets, rugs, or pillows you wish washed. We have fine departments, too, for laundering these. You'll be charmed with their work.

No need to let washday be a worry—call us. Our service is complete. Telephone today.

fuse my request. Really, I do not mean to be cocksure and impudent, but before you throw me out I'd like to let you in on a secret about yourself."

"What?"

"You're not going to throw me out."

"Why not?"

"Because you can't."

"That's fighting talk. Now, just to prove to you the depth of error in which you flounder young man, I am about to throw you out." And he grasped Andrew Bowers in the grip of a grizzly bear and whisked him out of the top berth.

"Wait one second," his helpless victim cried. "I have something to say before you go any further."

"Say it," Webster ordered. "Your tongue is the only part of you that I cannot control."

"When you throw me out on deck," Andrew Bowers queried, "do your pajamas go with me? Does the hair go with the hide?"

"They cost me sixteen dollars in Salt Lake City, but—good lord, yes, I can't throw you out mother naked; d—n it, I can't throw you out at all."

"Didn't I tell you so? Be a good fellow and turn me loose."

"Certainly—for the time being. You'll stay locked in this stateroom while I have a talk with the captain. He'll probably dig up a short, a pair of dungarees and some old shoes for you and set you ashore before we get out of the river. If he doesn't do that he'll keep you aboard and you'll shovel coal for your passage."

"But I'm Andrew Bowers and the purser has collected my first-class ticket!"

"What of it? I shall declare—and with truth—that you are not Andrew Bowers, that you are not my valet, and that I did not buy the ticket for you. I dare you to face the captain in my pajamas and prove you aren't a stowaway."

"You would win on that point," the baffling guest admitted, "but it is a point you will not raise. Why? Because I have another trump up my sleeve." He climbed back into the upper berth and from that vantage point gazed down benevolently upon John Stuart Webster. "I'm disappointed in you," he continued sadly. "I thought you'd show a little normal human curiosity about me—and you haven't. You do not ask questions or I could explain, while I cannot volunteer information without seeming to seek your pity, and that of course would be repugnant to me. I am hoping you will accept my word of honor that you shall be reimbursed two hours after you land in San Buenaventura."

"Now hush to your song, my friend, but the same old words," Webster retorted, and stepped to the stateroom door. "You're doomed to shovel coal or go ashore."

"Listen. If I go ashore, your responsibility for my life ceases, Mr. Webster, but if the chief engineer happens to be short one coal-passer and the captain sends me down to the stoke-hole, your responsibility for my death begins, for I'll be put ashore publicly at San Buenaventura and two hours later I'll be facing a firing squad in the cemetery at the Cathedral de la Vera Cruz."

"Gosh," John Stuart Webster murmured dazedly. "I'm afraid I can't take a chance like that for fifty dollars. I'm whipped to a frazzle. Any time I'm sitting in back of a royal flush and the other fellow bluffs me out of the pot, I always buy the wine. When it arrives we shall drink to our better acquaintance. Pending its arrival, please be advised that you are welcome to my pajamas, my cigarettes, my book and my stateroom. You are my guest and you owe me nothing, except, perhaps, your confidence, although I do not insist upon that point. Where I come from every man kills his own smokes."

And he held up his hand for Andrew Bowers to shake.

"Mr. Webster," the latter declared feelingly, "I am not a lord of language, so I cannot find words to thank you. I agree with you that you are entitled to my confidence. My name is—"

"Tut, tut, my boy. Your name is Andrew Bowers, and that identifies you sufficiently for the time being. When I suggested that I was entitled to a measure of your confidence, I meant on a few minor points only—points on which my curiosity has been abnormally aroused."

"Very well, my friend. Fire away."

"Are you an American citizen?"

"No, I am a citizen of Sobranie."

"You had no money to pay for your passage to San Buenaventura so you schemed to make me pay your way. Hence I take it that your presence in the capital of your native country is a matter of extreme importance and that the clerk in the ticket office of the Caribbean Mail line is a friend of yours."

"Quite true. He knew my need."

"You were under surveillance and could not leave New Orleans for San Buenaventura unless you left secretly. When I purchased both berths in this stateroom and the ticket clerk knew I held a first class ticket for a valet that was not, he decided to saw off on the wire a valet that was. Designed in the liver of a chauffer and carrying hand baggage you hoped to get aboard without being detected by your enemies who watched the emplanment."

Andrew Bowers nodded.

"I do not know Mr. Webster. I hope so. If I did not—well, the instance this steamer drops anchor in the roadstead at San Buenaventura, she will be boarded and searched by the military police, I will be discovered and—” he shrugged.

“Lawn party in the cemetery, eh?” Webster suggested.

Andrew Bowers reached under his pillow and produced two heavy automatic pistols and a leather box containing five clips of cartridges. These he exhibited in silence and then thrust them back under the pillow.

“I see, Andrew. In case you're cornered, eh? Well, I think I would prefer to die fighting myself.”

“I'm not worried, Mr. Webster. Somehow, I think I ran the gamut safely.”

“But why did you throw your livery overboard?”

“It was of no further use to me.”

“Not at all. The steamer will arrive in the harbor at San Buenaventura late in the afternoon—too late to be given pratique that day. After dark I shall drop overboard and endeavor to swim ashore, and in view of that plain clothes would only prove an embarrassment. I shall land in my own country naked and penniless, but once ashore I shall quickly find shelter. I'll have to risk the sharks, of course.”

“The bay is swarming with them.”

“You're breaking my heart,” Webster declared sympathetically. “I suppose you're going to feign illness throughout the voyage.”

“Not the kind of illness that will interfere with my appetite. I have prescribed for myself a mild attack of inflammatory rheumatism, as an excuse for remaining in bed and having my meals brought to me. This service, of course, will necessitate some slight expense in the way of tips, but I am hoping you will see your way clear to taking care of that for my guest.”

Silently Webster handed Andrew Bowers ten dollars in silver. “That ought to hold you,” he declared. “For the rest, you're up to some political skulduggery in Sobrante, and what it is and what's your real name are two subjects in which I am not interested. Let it be understood that you are my valet, Andrew Bowers. That's all I know about you and that's all I care to know about you. In fact, the less I know about you the less will I have to explain in the event of your sudden demise.”

“Fair enough,” quoth Andrew Bowers. “You're a man after my own heart. I thank you.”

CHAPTER IX.

Prior to leaving New Orleans, Webster had cabled Billy Geary that he was taking passage on La Estrella and stating the approximate date of his arrival at San Buenaventura—which information descended upon that young man with something of the charm of a gentle rainfall over a hitherto arid district. He had been seeing Dolores Ruey at least once a day ever since her return to Sobrante. He was quick, therefore, to seize upon Webster's cablegram as an excuse to call upon Dolores and explain the mystery surrounding his friend's nonappearance.

“Well, Dolores,” he began, in his excitement calling her by her first name for the first time, “I've heard from Jack Webster.”

“What's the news, Bill?” Dolores inquired. From the first day of their acquaintance she had been growing increasingly fond of Geary; for nearly a week she had been desirous of calling him Bill, which is a comfortable name and, to Dolores, was of thinking, a particularly appropriate cognomen for such a distinctly American young man. At mention of the beloved word he glanced down at her pleasurably.

“Thank you,” he said. “I'm glad you got around to it finally. Those that love me always call me Bill.”

“You called me Dolores.”

“I move we make it unanimous. I'm a foe to formality.”

“Second the motion, Bill. So am I—when I care to be—and in our case your formality is spoiling our comradeship. And now, with reference to the extraordinary Senor Webster—”

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

Wm. Twigg, Sr., a P. R. R. man located at Lock Haven yard, has been at his home on Bloomington avenue for two weeks past suffering a healed jaw and face.

Mrs. Samuel S. Moore and son Irvine left today for Williamsport Md., where they will visit until after Easter with Mrs. Miller, a daughter and Mrs. Guy Wilson, a granddaughter of Mrs. Moore.

Mrs. Harry Bilger left for Clearfield hospital yesterday where she will be under medical treatment for the next few days.

All country roads leading into Curwensville are in such a condition this week that very few of our rural neighbors have been able to get to town after supplies etc. In some places it is utterly impossible to get a vehicle through for any distance.

The physical condition of Postmaster G. F. Kittleberger is not improving very fast, and grave fears are entertained by his friends that it will be some months ere he is able to be out and around again.

Miss Esther Twigg has returned to her home on Susquehanna avenue after a three weeks visit with friends in the eastern part of the state.

Rev. Samuel Watts' Adult Bible Class will convene at the home of Mr. Bert Woodward on South Side, next Saturday evening and will spend several hours of that time in general sociability and good fellowship. Mr. and Mrs. Woodward will see to it that all who present themselves will be royally entertained and amply fed before they are allowed to depart from their handsome home.

It was remarked yesterday by one of our merchants that a larger number of traveling salesmen had visited his store than for another single day since the U. S. had entered the world's war with the Allies. The goods that they had for sale, said he, were close to 30 per cent less in cost than the month of March 1920.

The 500 card party held in the American Legion rooms last evening was pretty well attended considering the weather and several other entertainments that was going on the same time.

Yesterday being St. Patrick's Day it was generally conceded that all who claimed Irish blood in their veins be wearing the green, the emblem of that day, yet we only noticed three or four persons wearing the green clover leaf on the lapel of their coats. The green necktie was notoriously absent. The St. Patrick legend is fast fading away.

Danger in Incandescent Lamps.
Evidence that the high-power incandescent lamps now so commonly used for street lighting may not be wholly innocent as a possible source of fire was observed in southern California recently, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. A bulb hanging 20 feet above the ground suddenly burst and the white-hot particles of metal it scattered instantly ignited the dry grass at the foot of the pole. Fire wardens of the district are now advocating the use of suitable guards about the lamps.

FORMER NURSE IN BANKER STILLMAN'S HOME TO TESTIFY IN DIVORCE CASE

By Dale Van Every, United Press Staff Correspondent
Copyright 1921 by United Press

New York, March 17.—The first account of the events at the Summer home of James A. Stillman in the little village of Grand Aunse, Quebec, during the Summer of 1918 was given to the United Press here today by Miss Isabel Armstrong, former nurse of the Stillman children. Miss Armstrong came east from Pasadena, Calif., as a witness for Stillman in his divorce action against his wife. The events at the Summer home figured largely in the divorce action. "I was at Grand Aunse with Mrs. Stillman from March to September, 1918," Miss Armstrong said. "Mr. Stillman was not here during much of the Summer. Fred Beauvais, French Canadian, hired by Stillman, had complete authority as general manager of the whole establishment. He had power even to hire and discharge Mrs. Stillman's servants. Beauvais smoked cigarettes in the house. He was highly regarded by all members of the family.

"Mrs. Stillman was always out of doors in good weather. She was very much interested in farm work and spent much of her time inspecting the crops and saw that they were properly attended to. There were two houses on the farm which were situated along the St. Lawrence river. A forest came right up to the edge of the farm. One of the houses was occupied by Mrs. Stillman. This was called the White House. The other, which was a short distance away, was occupied by the Beauvais family. There were no other servants with Mrs. Stillman except members of the Beauvais family. I had the care of Alexander Stillman, then the youngest of the family. Bud, who is James, Jr., and Miss Annie Stillman were there part of the Summer. Sometimes Miss Annie and Bud made trips into the woods accompanied by guides or visited nearby camps. Bud was very fond of shooting. He was always firing at targets or something. Fred Beauvais was always with him."

Miss Armstrong has been under cover since coming here. When found by the United Press she was surprised and at first would not talk. She would not comment directly on the charges made in Stillman's divorce action. Miss Armstrong is about 27 years of age. She was nattily dressed and was much bewildered by the important role she figures in in the divorce case.

Speaking of the Beauvais family she said, "The Beauvais family lived on the farm for several years. Mrs. Beauvais, Fred's mother, was housekeeper. Fred was general manager of the whole establishment. He, rather than his father, was head of the house."

Let me laugh for the pure joy of living. Let me laugh like a child at his play. And the heart of the race will reserve me a place. And be glad that I traveled this way. —Liddell.

FEEDING THE FAMILY.

The children of the family, being the most important members as to proper feeding, may follow the English custom, which is ideal, of having a table of their own, where they are not permitted any compromise between what they ought to have and what they want. The result is of course sturdy, healthy youngsters. A few American families are now following this system, but the most as yet from necessity; others from indifference allow the children to eat with the family, where they usually have what they cry for, for the sake of peace at the sacrifice of manners, morals and physique.

The average housemother cannot run two sets of meals and serve at the same time the needs of the young and the desires of the old.

One may restrict the diet of the elders to conform to the food which should be given the young for the two meals of the day, having dinner at noon, or let the little people have supper by themselves earlier than the evening dinner hour.

Children under five should never be given food not suited to their age and condition. The problem then is to serve meals which will be suitable for the whole family for breakfast and luncheon, and neither unbalanced nor inadequate for either child or adult.

In the feeding of children consideration must be made in the difference between a child and an adult. In comparison of size the child is doing a great deal more work than the adult, but his natural appetite will take care of the amount of food needed to build the body and keep up energy. The child's food, because he has to use more, must be easily digested, more wholesome and better balanced, or trouble will follow.

The child, fortunately, who has not been pampered, does not need a variety of food to stimulate the appetite; neither sauces nor condiments; "hunger is the best sauce."

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Look Years Younger! Use Grand-Mother's Receipt of Sage Tea and Sulphur and Nobody Will Know

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grand-mother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out of date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure mitigation or prevention of disease.

TELEPHONE RATE CHANGE BENEFICIAL TO CLEARFIELDERS

The rates published by the "Clearfield Progress" of March 17th, 1921
were furnished by the Public Service Commission of Harrisburg, and published exactly as received.

The changes did not affect Clearfield excepting as follows:

Multi-party business rate reduced from $26.00 to $20.00 per annum.

Two-party residence rate reduced
from $23.00 to $20.00 per annum.

Four party residence rate reduced
from $27.00 to $24.99 per annum.

Also reduced the Multi-party residence rates from $21 to $20.00 per annum, excepting where the Multi-party was a desk telephone, then it increased the rate to $26.00 per annum.

Desk telephones are easily broken and the unusual wear and tear justified the increased rate for this class of service.

Such grace of line as this Spring show has not been approached in many seasons.

Peggy Paige dresses, carried exclusively by this store,
are a revelation in their beauty and variety of design.
From smartly tailored taffetas to softest canton crepe and filmy lace, they offer a charming setting for every type of girl and woman. There are bouffant hips that recall the quaint fashions of our grandmothers; effects which Youth always loved; skirts in tiers or pleated or softly draped,
just ultra-modish present-day affairs.

And what delightful trimmings! Bright flower like touches of sunlight, stunning colored fabrics, that are most alluring.

You will be greatly interested in looking through our assemblage of Peggy Paige creations. Somewhere among them you are sure to find your very own gown, looking as if it had been designed for you and you alone.
A few models are illustrated above.

They cost no more than the ordinary dresses.

RECOVERY IS THE TALK OF HER NEIGHBORHOOD

Eric Woman Says She Doesn't Remember Ever Having Felt Better in Her Life Than Since Taking Tanlac

"Only a month ago I was almost a physical wreck; now I feel so good I can hardly realize that I'm the same person," said Mrs. D. Marshall, 2627 Pennsylvania avenue, Erie, Pa., in relating her experience with Tanlac.

"I have been going down hill ever since I had erysipelas a year ago.
My appetite was very poor and my stomach got so bad nothing I ate agreed with me, and at times I suffered so from anorexia I could hardly retain anything. I had palpitation of the heart so I could hardly breathe, and my nerves were so shattered I scarcely got a good night's rest. The pains in my back were so severe I could hardly bend over, and I lost so much weight and strength

I did not know what to do.

"I heard so many people talking about what Tanlac had done for them I decided to see if it would help me. I have gnished my third bottle and I feel so good I just feel like shouting for joy, as all my pains are gone. I eat three hearty meals every day and my digestion is fine. My nerves are steady and I sleep like a child. I have gained in weight and have more strength and energy than I have had in a long time. I don't remember when I ever felt better than I do now. My recovery is the talk of the neighborhood."
